Coloma Driver Killed In St. Joe; Police Seeking Witnesses

A heavy equipment operator for Yerington Concrete company was crushed to death Friday afternoon when his front end loader plunged off St. Joseph's Blossomland bridge into a driveway area 50 feet below.

Killed instantly was Ernest Winfred Campbell, 45, of 241 Morrison street, Coloma, a veteran employe of the construction firm. He was pinned beneath the 15-ton loader when it hit the blacktop area in the Industrial Rubber Goods company lot.

APPEAL FOR WITNESSES

St. Joseph police issued an appeal for witnesses to the accident after being unable to locate anyone who saw it from the bridge. With workers enroute home about 4:30 p.m., officers said someone had to be able to supply additional information.

Authorities were baffled as to the exact cause of the accident. Campbell was considered a highly competent operator by the Yerington company. He was enroute from a job at Memorial hospital to the Yerington plant, North Shore drive, Benton township, when the crash occurred.

The loader, the officers said, was northbound when it went out of control for an undetermined reason and plunged over the side. Investigating officers found a tie rod end broken and a tire blown out. But they said either or both could have been caused by the fall and impact.

Lt. William Mahalik said the loader apparently traveled 18-20 feet on a 12-inch concrete curb before going over the side. Two sections of railing and a center post with a light were ripped out.

A part of the railing, the officers said, went through the hood of a truck parked near a loading area just minutes before.

JUST MISSED

Harry Keltner, route 1, Bridgman, driver of the truck, said he was walking away from the vehicle when he heard a loud noise. He said he saw a huge cloud of dust, but could not see what had occurred immediately.

A heavy duty wrecker was rushed to the scene to remove the loader from the victim.

Dr. W. H. Benner, deputy Berrien county medical examiner, told police death was due to impact. No autopsy was ordered, police said.

The death, if classified as a traffic fatality, would be the first in St. Joseph in over two years. According to city records the last traffic fatality occurred 796 days ago in June, 1967.

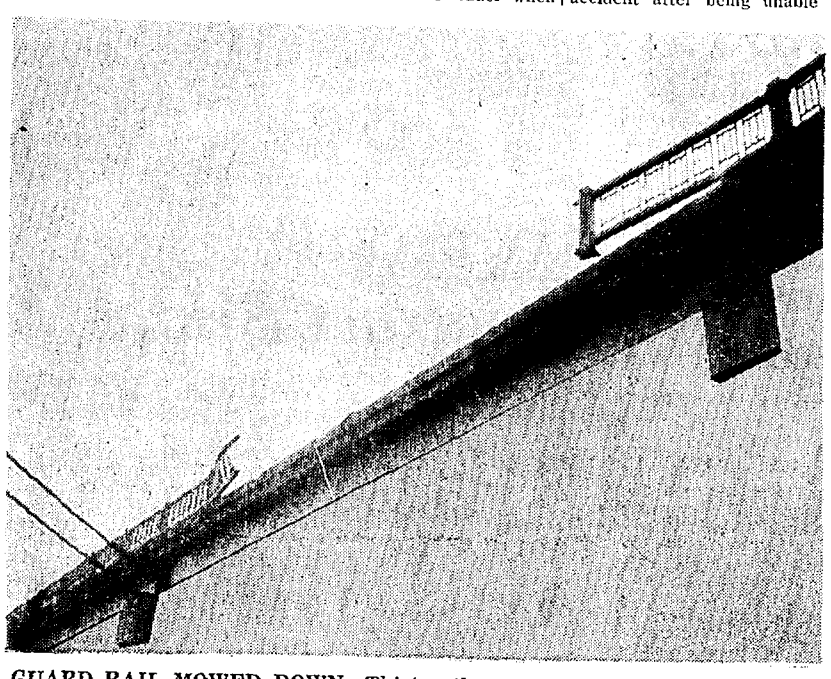
Auto Deaths In Berrien County In 1969

The death was the 36th on Berrien county highways this year, the same number as in 1968 at the same time.

Mr. Campbell was born in Kentucky, Nov. 18, 1923, the son of Ernest and Sally Blanton Campbell.

Surviving are his widow Sadie; six children, Don, Karen, Karla, Timothy, Susan and Jennifer; two sisters, Miss Ann Campbell of Indianapolis, Ind., and Miss Marlena Campbell of Wyattsburg, Ky.; six brothers, Robert, Jack, William and Glenn all of Indianapolis, Ralph and Theodore, both of Nashville, Tenn.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete this morning at the Hutchins funeral home, Watervliet.



GUARD RAIL MOWED DOWN: Thirty -three feet of guard railing and a light pole used as a center post were torn out Friday afternoon when a front end loader plunged off the Blossomland bridge, St. Joseph. The driver of the loader was killed instantly, St. Joseph police said.

Milliken Has New Awareness Of Problems

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken has asked the newest member of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission to "tell me where you think we're not moving" in the area of migrant problems.

Edward Louis Barrera—named Friday by Milliken to a vacancy on the commission—promised to "communicate the hopes and aspirations of the Mexican - American in this state."

The grandson of a Texas-Mexican migrant worker, Barrera was born in Flint. His parents had immigrated from Mexico to Michigan to work in industrial plants.

Barrera, 35, of Saginaw said he wanted to "work for the solution of long neglected problems."

EVIDENCE OF CONCERN

He termed the governor's action "further evidence of his concern for the civil rights of every American" and immediately called on Milliken to appoint other Spanish-speaking people to posts in state government.

Barrera said he hoped local government, business and industry would follow Milliken's example.

Milliken said the appointment was a "first step" toward helping migrants and Mexican-Americans and said he sensed "an increasing awareness in this state that migrants, among other groups, have problems."

"Too many migrants in Michigan live under adverse and sometimes tragic circumstances," the governor said. "Greater efforts must be taken to improve their conditions, particularly in the fields of health, housing and education.

"It is not a problem limited to migrants," Milliken added. "Many migrants have already dropped out of the migrant stream and become residents and others will continue to do so at an increasing rate.

"A high percentage of these are Mexican-Americans, many of them with limited English language ability, and it is important that state programs be geared to their special problems."

Barrera's presence on the commission, Milliken said, "should help us meet the problems of this growing minority group."

MORE ATTENTION

Milliken said the Civil Rights Commission is devoting much attention to the plight of the state's 150,000 Spanish-speaking citizens and to the problems encountered by the thousands of migrant workers who come to Michigan each year to help harvest crops.

Barrera, he said, would "give an able voice to Spanish-Americans and all Michigan citizens" as a commission member.

Berrera, whose appointment is subject to Senate confirmation, is a member of the Saginaw Latin American movement and has been eductaion. committee chairman of the Saginaw

Not Sanctuary; It's Revolution

Holland Sailor Denounces Military Protest

HONOLULU (AP)—A 17-year-old AWOL sailor who voluntarily surrendered to Navy authorities Friday denounced the symbolic "sanctuary" he left at a Honolulu church as "a movement to overthrow the government."

Seaman Apprentice Arthur D. Parker, of Holland, Mich., said other servicemen who took refuge at the Church of the Crossroads are "beginning to think about turning themselves in."

Parker told newsmen, "it isn't a sanctuary any more. It's become a movement to overthrow the government and I don't stand for that; neither do a lot of the others.

"Even though I don't like the military, I would rather be part of them than what's down at the church," he said. "They scare me now."

On leaving the church Thursday, he said the main reason he joined the protestors was "the dehumanization of the Navy."

Parker said he had second thoughts about his decision after receiving letters from his family and girl friend back home, and decided to turn himself in after talking to an Army chaplain. He was taken to the Pearl Harbor brig.

The number of young men who have taken refuge at the church stayed at 22 Thursday when another soldier joined the group of young men protesting the Vietnam war and the military system Thursday. He was Pfc. Rodger Edens, 19, of Wichita, Kans., who said he left his unit at Schofield Barracks several days ago.

Parker is the second man to quit the group. The first was Marine Pfc. Vincent Ventimiglia, 19, of New York City, who was arrested Wednesday at a Waikiki Hotel where he had gone to have dinner with his parents.

City officials, meanwhile, are waiting to see if the church will comply with a notice of violation of zoning ordinances and clear the church.

City building superintendent Edward Hirata said the church was given 10 days to comply with the notice of violation, which was issued Wednesday. The housing of the men and a large group of supporters in the church's main worship hall violates city zoning ordinances, he said.

Leaders of the Resistance, an antidraft group which is supporting the men, indicated that the "sanctuary" may be moved if the church is forced to comply with the building department order.

The church, located near the University of Hawaii, is affiliated with the United Church of Christ. It has no regular minister and is operated by the executive board.

Homicide Charged In Cass

DOWAGIAC — Cass county Sheriff James Northrop said a charge of negligent homicide was authorized Friday against a South Bend, Ind., youth in connection with the death of a fisherman Thursday morning in a boating accident on Magician lake near here.

Northrop said the charge was authorized by Herman Saitz, Cass county prosecutor and that the youth would be referred to Cass probate court, because he is a juvenile.

Killed when his boat was rammed by a motorboat was Charles C. Boston, 76 ,of Monroe, who had spent his summers at Magician lake.

The youth told sheriff's officers he had rounded an island in his inboard boat and struck the victim's boat without seeing it.

The sheriff's report states that the youth called for help which was answered by another boater. The youth then went to the Ray Nelson residence on the shore of the lake to call for an ambulance. He also returned to the scene and aided in pulling the victim's boat to shore, the report states.

STALINISM RETURNING

New Laws Have Czechs In Vise

PRAGUE (AP) —The Czechoslovak government rammed through harsh new laws Friday night to curb antigovernment and anti-Soviet disorders. The army and police crushed renewed rioting in Brno, the nation's second largest city.

The new laws provide prison terms, fines or loss of jobs for virtually any activity directed against Communism or those in power. Prague Radio said the laws went into effect Friday night and would continue until the end of the year.

Two persons were reported killed and several injured in the second day rioting in Brno, an industrial city of 350,000 about 130 miles east of Prague. Officials earlier reported two persons killed in Brno Thursday.

Sources said seven Czechoslovak army tanks moved into the downtown area to help riot police disperse some 5,000 demonstrators.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed after the rioters were dispersed.

SUPPORTERS, TOO

Prague Radio, which broadcast the "extraordinary measures" several times Friday night, said they would be used not only against those who violate order or threaten peaceful working conditions "but also against those who incite such action or support it."

The first reaction of Czechoslovakia to the new laws was that the government finally had the means to throttle the free atmosphere created during the 1968 reforms and maintained despite increasing pressure from the Soviet Union and the pro-Soviet regime that succeeded the reformists. Some said the new laws were as harsh as any during the Nazi or Stalinist eras.

Gruesome Body Hunt Continuing

Hurricane Camille Worst In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Camille is dead, but the awesome task of searching for its victims turned today to the sea off the Mississippi coast and the mountainous areas of Virginia.

The toll stood at nearly 400 dead, with hundreds missing and feared dead.

Property damages soared into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Nap Cassibry, Civil Defense coordinator for the Mississippi coastal strip, estimated that 315 persons perished. He said it was believed that "more bodies are buried in the beach sand—buried deep where they'll probably never be found."

"We've already pulled some bodies out of the water and there's no telling how many more have been swept out to sea," Cassibry added.

In Virginia, where Camille spawned flash flooding, there were 60 known dead with more than 110 missing.

"It appears that perhaps at least 100 of our citizens have lost their lives," Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. said after surveying the mountainous western part of Virginia.

Hardest hit was Nelson County, an agricultural area, where the toll was 44 early today. Other communities in the Blue Ridge Mountain foothills also suffered heavily.

HOMES SWEPT AWAY

Officials expect to find additional bodies in mountainside homes buried by earthslides during the flood. At least 25 homes were swept away and buried in mud in the tiny community of Davis Creek, north of the Nelson County seat of Lovingston.

Camille also claimed 10 lives in Louisiana, two in West Virginia and three in Cuba.

Camille, the worst hurricane ever to strike the American mainland, broke up Friday in the far reaches of the North Atlantic.

More Phonies Pop Up; Passers 'Long Gone'

At least 18 confirmed counterfeit $10 bills have popped up in the Twin Cities area in the past 10 days.

A bank official said a Secret Service agent reported there probably are more, but the original passers are "long gone."

David Ohman, manager of the Farmers and Merchants National bank branch at Fairplain Plaza, said another phony $10 was detected Friday after 14 turned up Thursday.

Innocent people with counterfeit bills are stuck unless they can convince the person from whom the bill was obtained to redeem it, then someone else is out. By law, all counterfeit money must be confiscated and turned over to the Secret Service.

The latest bill had a serial number of D70836313A. Bills that surfaced Thursday were D 6743888A. Bogus tens found last week in downtown Benton Harbor were G92641423H.

Counterfeit bills may be of poor quality paper that is discernible under scrutiny. There also may be imperfections in the picture such as Alexander Hamilton's on $10 bills.

The Green Beret Mystery Has A Plausible Explanation

For two weeks the news media has buzzed with the story of eight Green Berets being held in close confinement pending an Army decision on their future careers in the military establishment.

The Army's secrecy lid clamped upon the proceedings has wobbled so much between leaks and air tightness that months may elapse before a coherent story emerges.

From what can be pieced together at this time the case followed this turn of events.

Weeks or possibly months ago, the time being hidden under the classification order, a North Vietnamese disappeared.

His name and identity are cloaked, though a Saigon woman claims him to be a North Vietnamese refugee friendly to the South Vietnamese cause. She described herself as the widow of a Chuyn Thai Khac, she declares, worked as an interpreter for the U.S. Special Forces (the Green Berets) near the Cambodian border, one of several Commie infiltration points into South Viet Nam.

Khac, if that be the missing man, fell victim to murder. His body supposedly was weighted and dumped into the sea in the manner of Prohibition gangsters disposing of their competitor.

Eventually gossip of his disappearance filtered up to the Army's headquarters in Saigon. The gossip linked a Green Beret detachment to the incident.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, the field commander in South Viet Nam, is further gossiped to have expressed shock and to have said something to the effect that the case should be looked into thoroughly.

His deputy, Gen. George L. Mabry, ordered an investigation.

Subsequently the eight Green Berets were clapped into a compound. No charges have been lodged formally. The military code of justice, however, permits detention during what in the civilian law would amount to a grand jury probe.

Who ordered the detention is another X in uniform. Time magazine theorizes it to be an eager beaver lesser rank below Abrams or Mabry.

The next development is a vigorous assertion by a civilian lawyer and personal friend of the highest ranking Green Beret agents of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) notified the Berets that the North Vietnamese was a double agent for the Communists and the U.S., and to liquidate him.

The CIA changed its mind a bit later but failed to get this message through before the Berets had acted.

Mixed in with the foregoing conjecture is the further speculation that some portions of the Army command structure resent the glamor role given to the Berets and pounced on the situation as a matter of bureaucratic rivalry.

Such summary proceedings out in the jungle seemingly are everyday occurrences because of the difficulty in determining just who is a friend or a foe.

Currently a Phoenix, Ariz. man, a Green Beret captain, is appealing a murder conviction drawn from circumstances similar to the latest incident. The primary difference is the dispatching of a native of Cambodia which ostensibly is a neutral nation.

The Berets and the CIA are present day counterparts of special units the U.S. employed in World War II.

President Roosevelt created the OSS (Office of Strategic Services) as a centralized espionage and sabotage group.

Although its regular military critics dubbed it Oh So Secret, the OSS performed so effectively that President Truman obtained Congressional approval to continue in the form of the CIA.

The Special Forces or Green Berets are an adaptation of the military government teams and Commando units which functioned separately in WW II. The Commandos were advance fighting units specially trained to function in isolation from conventional supply and communications sources. The military government teams followed up the troops to restore some semblance of order in war devastated areas.

The Berets are created to serve this double purpose within their own ranks.

As the President's eyes and ears, the CIA has a wide roaming, free wheeling jurisdiction. Theoretically, the Berets hold a parallel status but in the more limited concept of exercising on the spot judgment for the field commander.

The Berets now behind the stockade appear to be patsies for a conflict in policy.

Abrams, like Westmoreland before him and whomever his successor may be unless Vietnam collapses fast, is under White House orders not to give the enemy the opportunity to propagandize the U.S. as being the aggressor in Viet Nam. Murder, as distinguished from battlefield activity, can be a convenient handle for the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese to beat against a drum.

The nature of their calling virtually obligates the CIA and the Berets to shoot first at suspicious characters and to investigate later.

Applying the two principles simultaneously is setting an unrealistic performance standard.

At the very least they can be applied only on the basis of not letting the left hand know what the right one is doing.

From this distance it looks as if somebody down the line jumped the gun following Abrams' initial reaction.

Twenty-three unmanned spacecraft have reached the moon's surface, 17 American and 6 Soviet, National Geographic says.

Island Eaters

An army of marine biologists is fanning out from Guam to a number of Pacific islands and atolls in a battle science is fighting against ecological imbalance. The scientists will launch, with diving gear and hypodermics, what is hoped will be a successful attack on starfish which have been eating away coral from around the isles.

The coral not only provides much of the fish the natives exist on, but is the foundation of many Pacific islands. If the starfish attack is not stopped quickly, some of the islands will be washed away by tropical storms. The coral reefs, or what is left of them, are a buffer against wind and wave.

The biologists will use their hypodermics to inject starfish with lethal poisons. It is, as one of the scientists explained, "a real war between the species."

Diamond Stampede

It may not be a repeat of the 1849 California gold rush, but there are similarities about the diamond hunt in the Venezuelan jungle. The population of San Salvador de Paul, until recently only 300, now is more than 10,000 and still the prospectors and camp hangers-on come.

For the lucky ones, prospecting the two-square-mile digging site means a haul in stones of $100 to $1,000 a day. Much of which, as in the California gold rush, ends up in the pockets of camp leeches who have found an easier way of prospecting.

SPOILED BRATS

Inasmuch as the majority rules under our democratic system it ought to be enough to convince these miscreants who defy legislated authority and commit overt acts under a flag or banner of their own making. It is possible that universities and colleges have discarded the science of simple civics and substituted some other foundation?

The average grade school pupil understands elementary civics, knows what is and what is not legal or lawful according to our Republican form of government. He knows that laws are enacted, amended or repealed by a majority vote. Since the grade school student is familiar with the workings of our constitution, then what excuse can the miserable few offer for upsetting or attempting to disorganize schools and colleges throughout the country?

There is a saying of ancient vintage which illustrates one point of view, "The innocent must suffer for the guilty." This does not apply to government, but it does fit in with the foul smelling dramatics that picturize the institutions of learning. When a change is found necessary in educational methods or systems it is the problem of the governing body to decide when, where and why. If this is true, what has happened to our top men and women who hold the reigns?

Some disheveled yokel with a beard down to his Adam's apple uttered the words: "The stinking establishment won't listen." He should have said: "We have no idea what we're doing, but we're doin' it anyway." and , they're getting away with it. Why?

Because they are unhappy, full of self pity believing the world owes them an education, a position of authority, a place in the sun where they can cast a shadow on others with brains and who use them at a profit. Were we to put a close check upon the home life and environment of these trouble makers whose stupidity is sky high and their I. Q. down at the bottom we would find that their trouble is purely a lack of discipline. A few good clouts in their home life would change their views on a number of issues.

Our institutions of learning from kindergarten up could stand a good battery of disciplinary leaders. They should operate as the armed forces, obeying all order, regardless of whom it may hurt or what personal feeling may be smarted. Disciplinary training is the great ally of education.

We had it once here in America. When pa, ma, or the teacher said no, or yes, that was it. What happened? Well, if you are a parent you ought to be able to give the answer. My dad once said to me: "If you are right, be sure, then go ahead. If you are not sure, compromise, but if you're wrong." . . . . . I knew what he meant. That's for sure.

BORN TODAY

Perhaps the two memorable distinctions about Louis XVI were (1) he was the husband of Marie Antoinette and (2) as he was about to be beheaded he said: "Apres moi, le deluge" (after me, the deluge).

He was the son of Louis, dauphin of France, the son of Louis XV, and of Marie Joseph of Saxony. He was born at Versailles in 1754.

His father's death in 1765 made him heir to the throne, and in 1770 he married Marie Antoinette, daughter of the empress Maria Theresa. He was 20 years old when the death of Louis XV on May 10, 1774, placed him on the throne. He began his reign under good auspieces, but it ended with his beheading.

Marie Antoinette eventually obtained ascendancy over her husband and was partly responsible for the extravagance of the ministry.

The revolt of Paris and the taking of the Bastille on July 14, 1789, signalled the beginning of the end for Louis XVI. Although he was at the height of his popularity a year later, a party was forming that demanded his deposition.

The declaration of war against the emperor Francis II, nephew of Marie Antoinette, was forced upon the king by forces which wished to discredit him. The failure of the war involved the king and the invasion of the Tuileries on June 20, 1792, was but a prelude to the capture of the palace and "suspension" of royalty.

He was executed on Jan. 21, 1793.

Some of my readers ask for further information about a new drug called "amitriptyline." It has been under intensive experimental studies for the severe neurological condition widely known as "Lou Gehrig's disease."

As I indicated, the drug is an experimental one, and only after extensive studies will it be released for general use.

At the University of Virginia, Dr. Donald B. Sanders, in the Dept. of Neurology, is one of the scientists and physicians studying the drug in a selected series of cases. The value of the drug lies apparently in its ability to improve the proper utilization or metabolism of glucose.

This method is a combined accomplishment of these and other physicians who were courageous enough to try it.

Opening lead —jack of clubs.

Let's say you're declarer at four spades and West leads the jack of clubs. There seems to be nothing to the play, since you're likely to make either ten or eleven tricks depending on whether the trumps are divided 3-1 or 2-2.

When you duck the club, West leads another one which East wins with the king. East then continues with the ace, which you ruff, but when you next play the ace of spades, East shows out.

This is a disconcerting development, of course, since the 4-0 trump break appears to have put an end to your chances. But, having been to the wars before, you start to think in terms of whether it is still possible to make the hand despite West's seemingly indestructible two trump trick.

What you must do in situations like this is to mentally distribute the defenders' cards so that it becomes possible to cut off one of your trump losers. If you can find such a distribution, you assume it exists and play the hand accordingly.

In the present case you must assume that West's original distribution was 4-3-3-3, in which case you can resuscitate the contract.

You stop playing trumps and cash the Q-K-A of hearts, discarding a diamond. Having passed this hurdle, you play the A-K-Q of diamonds, being careful to end up in your hand. This is now the position:

North
♠ 10 5 4

West ♠ Q J 9 — East Immaterial

South
♠ K 7 6

When you next lead a low spade toward the ten, West suddenly discovers that whatever he does he cannot make more than one trump trick. You are bound to score both the ten and king of spades, as one of West's trump tricks goes up in smoke.

STATE APPROVAL EXPECTED ON SJ MARINA

SJ Announces School Start

Grades 1-12 Will Begin Thursday, Sept. 4

School will open September 4 for all students in the St. Joseph public schools, except for kindergarteners. Thursday, September 4, will be a half-day for all students in grades 1 through 12. The kindergarten, as well as grades 1-12, will attend classes all day Friday, September 5.

On Thursday, the high school will begin at 8:00 a.m. and dismiss at 11:45 a.m.; the junior high schools will start at 7:50 a.m. and dismiss at 11:45 a.m.; and the elementary schools (except Washington) will begin at 9:00 a.m. and dismiss at 11:15 a.m. Washington school will start at 8:50 a.m. and dismiss at 11:05 a.m. on September 4. The earlier time schedule for Washington is for safety purposes, to avoid shift changes in local industry. It is believed that most of this heavy traffic can be avoided by dismissing ten minutes earlier.

TIME SCHEDULES

The regular opening and dismissal times for all schools is as follows:

Senior high school 8:00 to 2:45

Milton and Upton Junior high schools 7:50 to 2:45

Washington elementary 8:50 to 3:20

All other elementary schools 9:00 to 3:30

For the first few days of school, it is suggested that kindergarten children should wear tags with their name, the name of the street on which they live, and their telephone number. This will help insure parents that the children will arrive at school and be returned safely. Any child who is not 5 years old before September 1 of this year and 5 before December 1, may be admitted to kindergarten upon the results of maturity tests administered by the school district.

These tests will be given in each of the elementary schools on Monday, August 25, and Tuesday, August 26. Parents with children whose age would require the test to be taken are encouraged to contact the elementary school in their area immediately, if they have not done so, in order that their child can be considered for kindergarten this year.

New residents, or families who have relocated within the St. Joseph school district who have not registered their children are asked to do so as soon as possible.

All elementary schools are open daily for registrations. Milton Junior high, 1520 Niles avenue, is open daily for registrations for both junior highs. The senior high school will begin scheduling all new persons on Monday, August 25. Please call the high school 983-1573, for an appointment.

The payment of book fees for all schools will be as follows:

Senior high school Aug. 27, 28, 29 7:30 —3:00

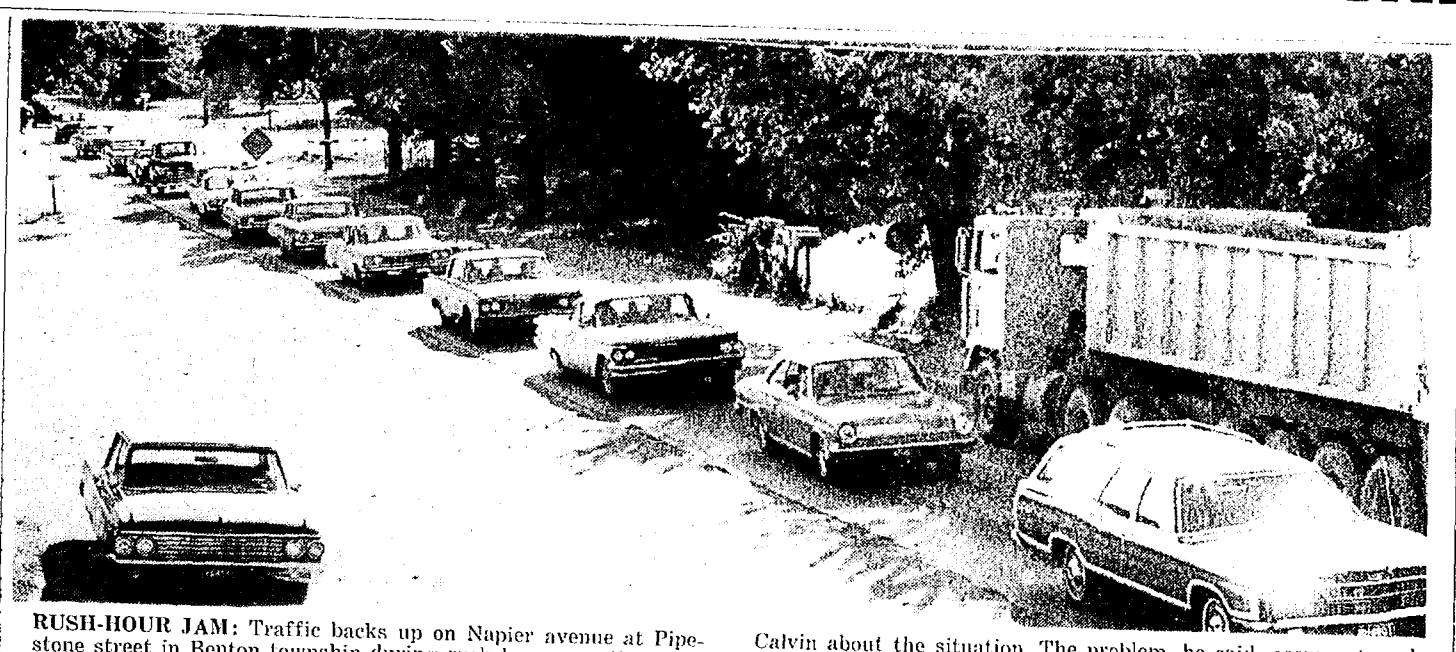
Milton junior high Aug. 27, 28, 29 8:00 —4:00

Elementary school Aug. 27, 28, 29 8:00 — 4:00

Book rental fees for the senior high students are $8, plus lab and manual fees as specified by the various classes. In the junior high schools, the fee for 7 and 8 grades is $9.50, except for those taking a foreign language and shop. An extra fee of $1 will be charged for foreign language and an extra fee of $1 for all 7th grade boys taking shop or any new 8th and 9th grade boys. The money is used for shop aprons. For the 9th grade students, the book fee will be $6.50 plus extra fees depending on the student's schedule. The elementary fees are $ 6 for all kindergarten students, $7 for grades 1-3, and $8 for grades 4-6.

The hot lunch program will begin in the senior and junior high schools and those elementary schools having a lunch program on Monday, September 8.

If there are any further questions about registration or book fees, parents are urged to call the schools or the office of Doyle Anderson, assistant superintendent, at 983-5962.



RUSH-HOUR JAM: Traffic backs up on Napier avenue at Pipestone street in Benton township during rush hours creating lines like this. The intersection is controlled by a four-way stop sign which some residents feel should be replaced with a traffic light. Ray Wilder, Benton township supervisor, said he plans to confer with Berrien county road commission engineer-manager Heath Calvin about the situation. The problem, he said, occurs at rush hour and has been going on for some time. Additional traffic created with the opening of the Napier avenue campus of the county's Lake Michigan college could increase it, he said. (Staff photo).

Tiscornia Beach Site Eyed

City Hunts For Its Half Of $250,000 Cost

St. Joseph City Manager Leland Hill said Friday he expects state approval in September of the city's $250,000 marina project of Tiscornia Beach.

Hill said detailed plans for the project were being reviewed now by the Water Resources branch of the Department of Natural Resources. Once approval is received, Hill said the plan would go to the city's Harbor Authority for implementation.

To be worked out said Hill, is the method for financing the city's share of the cost. The state has already pledged $125,000 for its share.

SECOND MARINA

The marina is to be constructed on about an eight-acre site of the 16-acre Tiscornia park. It will have 110 spaces and be accessible to Lake Michigan through a channel proposed through the North Pier. It will be the city's second marina, when done. Alfred E. Hansen, a civil engineer from Muskegon, is project consultant.

Hill said the $125,000 state money was incorporated into the 1969-70 budget and would be available through June 30, 1970, if the city comes up with its share.

One possible method for financing the city share, Hill said, was a revenue bond issue which would be repaid from revenue raised from both the new and existing marinas.

TENTATIVELY APPROVED

Hill said use of the eight-acre section of the park was subject to final approval from the Tiscornia Foundation as well as the state and local authorities. The foundtion, he said, has tentatively approved the proposal but final action will not be taken until the state approved plans are reviewed.

The park was dedicated to the city for public park and beach use and any change was left to the decision of the foundation by the donor.

If the foundation failed to approve the plan, Hill said the proposal would be dropped.

New York Man Gets New Post

DR. JOHN P. KARAN

Appointment of Dr. John P. Karan as assistant superintendent for educational services was announced today by Dr. Mark E. Lewis, superintendent of Benton Harbor schools.

Dr. Karan, 40, has been coordinator of elementary education for 10 years in the Lockport school district, Lockport, N.Y. He previously was an assistant elementary principal at Williamsville N.Y., and an elementary teacher at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

His duties here will be similar to the former Benton Harbor position of assistant superintendent for instruction. But the responsibilities will be broadened and the title changed in line with recommendations of the Booz, Allen & Hamilton survey of the school district.

MAJOR CHANGE

A major change is that principals will report to Dr. Karan on routine administrative matters instead of the assistant superintendent for personnel.

Karan will start Sept. 2. His salary will be $19,000 annually.

In New York, he has developed new programs in reading, language arts, science, modern mathematics and reporting to parents. He also has developed a number of new instructional guides and bulletins and was recently involved in experimentation with programmed instruction.

Dr. Karan and his wife are the parents of a son, 17, and daughter, 9.

Police Issue Appeal To Residents

Burglaries On Rise In Twin Cities

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

Spokesmen for area police agencies today urged people to keep an eye on their neighbor's house when the neighbor is gone for the day or vacationing.

The appeal came in the wake of a rash of house burglaries in the Benton Harbor area.

Neighbors who see strangers near a house or see household goods being moved out should alert authorities immediately, the spokesmen said.

People telephoning information to police departments need not identify themselves and if they do, the spokesmen said, they would not be involved.

"We're glad to send a car out to check on suspicious activity," said spokesman for one of the departments. "The run may prove unneeded, but we don't mind."

Benton Harbor in July recorded 47 house burglaries compared to 11 in July last year.

Benton township reported a slight upswing over 1968 (15-11), while Berrien county reported a slight decreased caseload, 45 compared to 55.

Township Police Lt. Paul Farris said the recent arrests of three teen-agers may clear up many of the cases. But he said residents should remain alert.

MOST UNSOLVED

Two daylight cases in Benton Harbor were also being classified as solved because of the arrest of a 23-year-old man by Benton Harbor police. But most of the 47 burglaries in July occurred at night.

Benton Harbor Police Chief William McClaran said "We need the public's help in this. Neighbors should call the department so that a house can be checked. It's better than finding out the next day that the house next door has been entered."

The chief said the rash of burglaries has already caused some people to become more concerned. More people who are going away for a day or on vacation are telling neighbors, he said, and more are notifying authorities.

Other persons, said McClaran, are repairing broken screens and door locks.

SEPARATE CASES

McClaran said several different persons or groups appear to be involved in the burglaries in Benton Harbor. Some of the break-ins were carried out by youngsters. Some, he said, reflect a little older person in view of articles taken.

In at least four attempted break-ins, a man was chased away by someone in a house after he had removed a screen or forced a door open.

McClaran said city patrols had cut down the number of break-ins at commercial centers. But he said residential burglaries were harder to determine because of the lack of information on who should be inside at at what time.

Lt. Farris said in the township, most of the burglaries have not been at homes where the residents are away on vacation. The people are away for the day working or out for the night, he said.

Safety Education Intensified

Teacher Will Head Program

JON SCHUSTER
Heading up Program

Robert Strumpfer, executive director of the Twin Cities Area Safety Council, said today that the council plans to intensify its activities in school and child safety with the beginning of the fall semester.

He explained that the Safety Council has for a number of years carried on a variety of safety education programs for school-age children. There is a need, however, for a better balanced program to include all age groups.

If any significant improvement is to be made in accident reduction over the long haul, Strumpfer said, it must be done through an educational and informational process. Safety is largely a matter of attitude and the council hopes to create and foster the proper attitudes in young people.

Jon Schuster, Director of Athletics at St. Joseph high school and chairman of the Safety Council's newly formed school division, will assume a major role in the development and implementation of the programs.

Strumpfer said that Schuster has done a fine job this summer in laying the groundwork for program expansion.

"We now have for the first time, in every public and parochial school building in the area, an appointed school safety representative," according to Strumpfer.

School safety representatives in each school will not only be concerned with safety education, but also conditions in and around the school buildings that might affect the safety of children.

Police Take Escapee, 17, In Custody

Cecil Paul Spear Jr., 17, of 2159 Red Arrow highway, Benton township, was back in custody of area police agencies today.

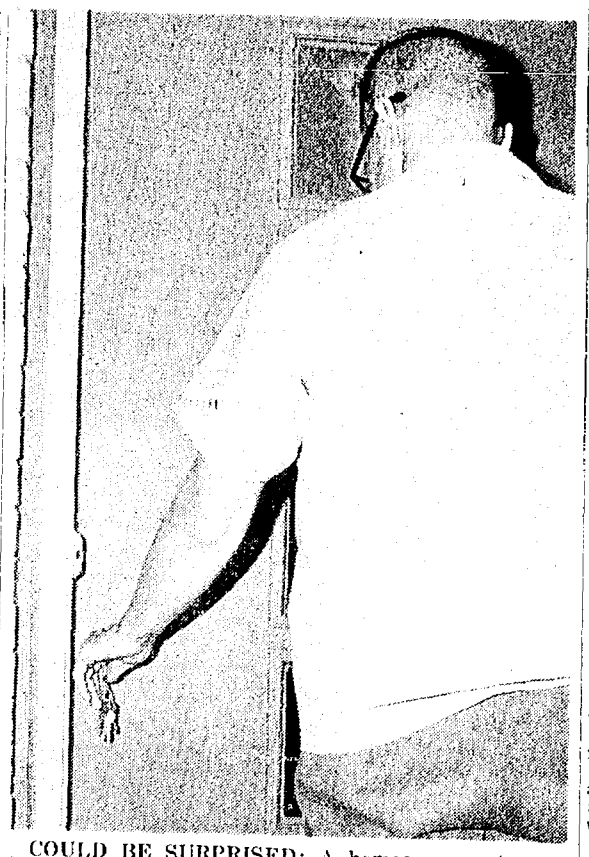
He was arrested by Benton township police last night in the Club Villa on a bench warrant for failure to appear in court on a charge of minor in possession of intoxicants and on complaints of escaping twice from custody of Benton Harbor police.

Spear was taken into custody, handcuffed and taken to the Berrien county jail by township officers who went to the club after receiving a tip.

The bench warrant and complaints of escape stemmed from the arrest of Spear by Benton Harbor police early Aug. 16. He was being booked at the city jail on the possession charge when he disappeared. Officers said a back gate of the rear enclosure had been left open. He was picked up a short time later, but jumped out of a police car and escaped.

POLICE FREE SUSPECT

Benton Harbor police released a man after a polygraph test indicated he had no connection with the stabbing of a 20-year-old woman Wednesday night. The man was found near the home of Mrs. Janice Vaughn, 20, of 1120 Monroe street, after she sustained puncture wounds.



COULD BE SURPRISED: A homeowner returning after an absence from his house may find his belongings missing or rifled by burglars unless neighbors pitch in to help police. Spokesmen for area police agencies called for citizen help in notifying them of suspicious activities in or near the house of a neighbor away for a day or more. (Staff photo).

Covert Will Make Tax Switcheroo

Millage Won't Be Increased By 'Yes' Vote

COVERT — The Covert board of education plans to amend its 1969 tax resolution in an effort to win voter approval of a special 1-mill levy which would finance eight portable classrooms.

Graham Brimhall, board president, said a special meeting of the Covert board has been called for 8 p.m. Monday to adopt the tax resolution amendment.

He said the proposed amendment calls for decreasing the debt retirement levy from three to two mills. Then if the voters approve the one-mill special tax on Sept. 8, the total spread would remain at 25.68 mills and there would be no tax rate increase for property owners of the district.

Due to estimated increases in the school district's property valuation, the school district now can meet its annual debt payments with two mills, Brimhall said. The 29-year bond issue was floated 11 years ago to finance the elementary school building with an original levy of six mills which has been gradually reduced.

Most of the Covert district's increased valuation comes from the Consumers Power Co. nuclear-fueled generating plant scheduled to go into operation next year.

At its regular meeting earlier this month, the board certified 22.68 mills for operating purposes and three mills for debt retirement. The operating millage includes 8.68 allocated and 15 voted mills.

Brimhall said the mill to be voted on Sept. 8 would bring about $25,000 in revenue. He said this would pay for the eight portable classrooms secured by the school board under a lease-purchase agreement.

Sites have been prepared for eight portable classrooms which should be ready for occupancy by elementary school pupils when school opens on Sept. 2.

Brimhall invited school district residents to inspect the units after they are installed next week.

Man Killed By Shotgun In Home

Gambling Debt Argument Cited

DOWAGIAC — A Dowagiac area man, Marshall Uring, 52, died of a shotgun blast fired early this morning at his home, 307 Budlow street, Pokagon township, Cass county sheriff's officers said.

Deputies said they are looking for Charley Brown, 52, of the same address, for questioning.

Cass County Sheriff James Northrop said three witnesses told him the shooting occurred during an argument over a $10 gambling debt. The shooting was reported at 12:30 a.m.

Rolla Schoff, Cass county coroner, pronounced Uring dead at the home. Schoff said death was caused by shotgun wounds to the left chest.

Sheriff Northrop reported that Uring had been shot once with a single shot shotgun, fired at a distance of about eight feet from the victim.

Policemen Promoted In Benton

Capt. Farris Now 2nd In Command

Paul D. Farris, a 12-year veteran of the Benton township police department, has been promoted to captain succeeding Douglas Dunham who resigned recently to go into private business.

Farris' promotion from lieutenant resulted from civil service examinations conducted by the Benton township civil service board, according to Seymour Zaban, board president. The exams also produced two other promotions.

Jack Drach has been promoted from sergeant to lieutenant filling the vacancy created by Farris' pjromotion. Robert D. Burton is advanced from patrolman to sergeant.

Farris, 34, and his wife, Dorothy, live at 4787 Scottdale road, rural St. Joseph. They have two children. He. was made sergeant in 1960 and lieutenant in 1967. The captain is second in command of the department under Chief Joe Sieber.

Drach joined the department in 1958 and was promoted to sergeant in 1962. Drach, his wife, Ginger and two children live at Coloma.

Burton has been with the department since December, 1962. He and his wife, Marilyn have five children and live on Black Lake road, Eau Claire.

Other members of the township civil service board are George Culverhouse and Jim Smith. A consultant for the examinations was Art Pears, former Niles police chief, and presently head of security at Notre Dame university.

MONDAY NIGHT

Lake Shore Erosion Will Be Discussed

A meeting to review the lake shore erosion problem along Red Arrow highway will be held at 8 p.m. Monday by the Lakeshore Chamber of Commerce in the Snowflake motel, south St. Joseph.

Chamber president Thomas McGrath said the actions taken by the chamber and other groups interested in solving the erosion would be discussed.

The chamber and private organizations have been trying to get planning and financial aid from local, state and federal governments for years.

One section of the bluff, where major erosion has moved the bank to within five feet of the highway, is already scheduled for action by a state agency.

The State Highway commission has proposed a $1 million breakwall-jetty project running south 3,900 feet from the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks to stop the fall.

Property owners south of the project are seeking additional state action because they contend the present plan will create a more serious washout on their properties.

Paw Paw To Slash Spending

Millage Defeat Brings Austerity

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw board of education will hold a special meeting Monday evening at 7:30 p.m., to approve a list of cuts in the school budget for the coming year. Superintendent of schools Albert Kimmel said the board has been forced to cut about $150,000 due to the defeat of a six mill operational tax levy by Paw Paw voters two weeks ago.

The board members said in a special statement that they have tried to determine general outlines for the operation of the Paw Paw schools for the coming year before making budget cuts.

STAFF REDUCED

The two biggest cuts in school programing will affect students in grades 6 through 12, who will attend school for five hours instead of the usual six. In doing this, the board will reduce the teaching staff by 15 instructors.

All students in these grades will have to give up at least one of their elective subjects to fit the five hour schedule.

The board also plans to put all athletic programs on a self-sustaining basis. Receipts from games and contests must pay all salaries and purchase equipment.

Another cut that mut be approved Monday is the elimination of an assistant principal for the high school. The board had hired the high school's first assistant principal earlier this summer, but he later turned the job down.

The board has also decided not to place the position of community school director on a full-time basis.

The board members also hope to reduce capital outlay expenditures for equipment by 60 percent. As a part of this move, no new school buses will be purchased.

CLASSES CUT 50%

Elementary students will also be affected by the budget cuts. The board plans to cut the elementary physical education and music classes by about 50 percent.

The board also said that some elementary classes may be enlarged to enable them to cut three teaching positions from the budget.

Kimmel and the board of education said in their statement that they were not pleased with the cuts in budget, but felt that they had done their best to work within the financial limitations which the loss of the extra six mills brought.

The Hamilton family resides on River road, Paw Paw. Before assuming duties as Paw Paw police chief last February, Hamilton was the Paw Paw bureau reporter for this newspaper.

Gunman Is Convicted By Jury

Insanity Plea Not Believed

A Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated six hours Friday before finding Ralph Getterson, 34, Stevensville guilty of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Getterson had been brought to trial on a charge of attempted murder in the Halloween night, 1967, shootings of his wife's parents at their home, 638 Superior street, Benton Harbor.

The verdict was apparently a compromise between jurors favoring the defense's plea for an acquittal on the grounds of insanity, which would mean involuntary hospitalization of Getterson, and those favoring a verdict of guilty to the original charge.

If acquitted on the grounds of insanity, Getterson would have been placed in a state hospital for an indeterminate time until judged sane. Conviction on the attempted murder charge could have meant a life term in prison. The charge he was convicted on draws a maximum 10-year prison term.

Presiding Circuit Court Judge Chester J. Byrns continued Getterson's $10,000 bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arndt testified that Getterson shot them because they refused to give him his infant son. The son and Getterson's wife had been staying with Arndt's parents after the Gettersons separated. Getterson also admitted the shootings.

Hospitalized for nearly eight months before court - appointed psychiatrists declared him mentally competent to stand trial, Getterson pleaded innocent by reason of insanity of attempting to murder his mother-in-law and father-in-law.

Defense attorneys George Keller and Bruce Conybeare brought Benton Harbor psychiatrist Charles E. Payne to the stand yesterday to testify.

'LEGALLY INSANE'

Payne said that as a result of his examination of Getterson shortly after the shootings he concluded that the defendant was mentally ill at the time of the acts and was thus incapable of differentiating right from wrong. This meant that in Payne's opinion Getterson was legally insane at the time he fired one .357 magnum slug into Arndt and three into Mrs. Arndt.

Further reports of Getterson's mental incapacity to have the requisite intent to attempt murder were read into the record on the agreement of Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher.

Both the defense and chief assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher addressed themselves exclusively to the question of Getterson's sanity at the time of the shootings in their closing arguments to the jury.

After instructing the jurors of the several possible verdicts they could reach, Judge Byrns told the jury that the burden of proving Getterson's sanity was on the prosecution after the defense had introduced the issue.

Picketing Continues In Second Day

Mechanic Bargain Rights Sought

Picketing of Consumers Asphalt Paving plant, Zoschke road, north of Benton Harbor, continued yesterday for the second day.

Harry Reynolds, agent of teamsters Local 7, said picketing started because of the company's refusal to recognize the union as bargaining agent for its two mechanics. The local has represented company truck drivers for some time.

Reynolds said the picket line was being respected by workers who are members of other unions and the plant was not operating.

Acknowledging that the plant is closed down except for sales to customers, company president John J. Kinney III said that he had less than 15 hours notification from the union of its intent to represent the mechanics. Prior to that, Kinney said, he had no notice of any problems with the two mechanics, one of whom is an apprentice.

Reynolds said that in two meetings with the company, the strikers had received no satisfaction. The mechanics, he said, have signed cards authorizing the Teamsters local as their bargaining representative. They are the only employes not represented by a union, he said.

Kinney said he is waiting for legal advice to determine whether the Teamsters have the right to picket for an additional contract with the same company. "As far as I'm concerned," Kinney said, "the mechanics could have joined one of the other three unions over the years."

EAU CLAIRE

School Registration Begins Next Week

EAU CLAIRE—Elementary and high school students will be registered next week at the schools with offices open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. to accept registrations for the 1969-70 term.

Sept. 2 is the first day of instruction and all students are to be registered by Friday, Aug. 29.

Kindergarten children will not have school on Sept. 2 and 3. Bus routings will be planned and parents will be notified before Sept. 4 of the bus schedule for their child, according to Ernest Tarzwell, elementary principal. He said kindergarten children should be tagged by their parents listing name, location of home, telephone and bus number.

High school students may purchase books at the high school. School insurance forms are available at the elementary and high school offices. Parents who signed up for insurance earlier may pick up forms which were not available at time of registration.

Elementary book fee schedules are kindergarten, $6.75; grades 1 through 6, $10, and special education students' activity fee, $1.

Aid Sought For Poor Youngsters

Cash Also Asked In Multi-Agency Welfare Appeal

By BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

The Berrien county Social Services department and four other agencies Friday launched the first county-wide multi-agency drive for fall and winter school clothing in recent memory.

The appeal is for clothing, footgear and cash to buy clothes for perhaps thousands of low-income Berrien county school children, according to Social Services Director Wesley Bowerman.

He said the drive was not directly related to a demand last week by a Benton Harbor welfare rights group for a $125 per-child school clothing allotment. Clothing drive agencies contempated the drive before the welfare group posted its demand, Bowerman said.

Agencies in the drive, besides Social Services, are Tri-County Community Action Program (TRI-CAP), Health and Welfare Center of Berrien county, the Berrien chapter of American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

TRI-CAP Deputy Director David Abbey kicked off the push for cash as well as clothes with a pledge Friday of $100.

"We are in hopes," Bowerman said, "this can be a continuing thing from now on . . . because there is a need, a continuing need (for clothing) in Berrien county."

Drive officials cited as potential clothing recipients some 4,500 school age Berrien welfare children and perhaps as many more nonwelfare low-income school children.

The need is especially acute, officials said, for jackets, winter coats and trousers.

Donors may contact participating agencies for details on clothing drop sites, home pickups and addresses for cash donations.

Drive officials also said there is a "desperate need" for volunteers to pick up and sort clothing. They added they can use a temporary or permanently donated truck or station wagon for pickups.

Drive officials noted such donations can be tax-deductible.

When the welfare rights group called on Social Services officials last week for a $125 per-child clothing grant they were told Social Services has only $9,000 left in its 1969 budget for "emergency" clothing needs, including those of direct relief cases.

A $125 per-child grant would cost a half-million dollars, Social Services officials said.

Drive officials said clothing pickup service was scheduled to be offered by Social Services, the Health and Welfare Center, Tri-CAP and the Salvation Army.

Clothing may be dropped off at:

The Social Services office, ground floor courthouse, St. Joseph, and on Tuesdays and Fridays at 516 Cedar street, Niles; Health and Welfare Center of the Seventh-day Adventist church, 2907 Division street, St. Joseph, or next door at the cancer office, and at 61 North St. Joseph street, Niles, and the center in Berrien Springs; at Tri-CAP offices at 720 East Main and 722 East Washington, Benton Harbor; at Red Cross offices, 244 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, and 102 North Fourth street, Niles; and at Salvation Army drop boxes at K-Mart in Benton Harbor, Fairplain Plaza, Stevensville and Coloma.

The Health and Welfare Center, Tri-CAP and Salvation Army have clothing distribution centers already in operation. All will use referral forms to channel low income clothing recipients to proper sources.

Items that one agency cannot furnish may be provided by another, Bowerman said.

The drive is for low income school children in Berrien county only, he said, since other counties operate similar programs. Abbey noted Tri-CAP covers three counties and also will provide clothing in Cass and Van Buren.
